TIMBER PRODUCTS FIELD REPRESENTATIVE

Who is Timber Products?

Timber Products (TP) has been proudly serving the Forest Products Industry since 1969 and is the largest accredited ALSC agency for wood product auditing programs. As a responsible partner, TP delivers to clients, employees, and the industries we serve the confidence to drive value through the effective use of our diverse professional team. With TP's continued growth, we develop the need to expand our staff of professional Field Representatives.

What are the responsibilities of a TP Field Representative?

As a TP Field Inspector, you will be responsible for the sampling and/or auditing of wood products to verify compliance to applicable standards and quality programs. You will also be monitoring plant records and training production staff. Because of the broad range of services offered by TP, no two days are alike. Servicing a territory of various wood processing facilities, each day will require travel to and from different locations. Each TP Field Representative works independently from a remote location, but is part of a pod of representatives that is overseen by a supervisor who provides support and assistance.

What the benefits of working for Timber Products?

In addition to working for one of the most recognizable names in the Forest Products Industry, TP also offers the following benefits:

- Medical, Dental and Vision Insurance for all fulltime employees; a 401K matching program; paid vacation, and a Partial ESOP.
- For all Field Representatives, TP provides paid training and all the required tools for the positions once training is complete. This includes a vehicle, tablet and cell phone.

What are the main characteristics of a TP Field Representative?

Integrity
